COMMUNICATION BETWEEN MEN AND WOMEN IN DAILY PROFESSIONAL LIFE
(SEMINAR LANGUAGE ENGLISH)

Target group: Scientists of the Ruhr Universität Bochum (RUB)

There are many competent women who are sometimes slowed down in professional contexts. In many cases this happens because they do not know the symbols of male-dominated structures and communications and consequently do not know how to apply them in their own interests. Thus, the question arises whether men or women in professional life are a dream team or if they simply do not get along? Dr. Modler holds the opinion that mixed teams are the most productive ones. In his interactive lecture, Peter Modler gives various examples for the different communication behaviour of men and women and explains how they can effectively use this in a professional context.

Lecturer: Dr. Peter Modler
Date/times: 25.03.2014, 18:00h to 20:30h
Location: Will be announced together with a confirmation of the application after the registration deadline.
Registration deadline: 14.03.14

Contact: Helga Rudack IFB,
Tel.: 0234 32 23726
E-Mail: helga.rudack@rub.de